What happens when my artwork is purchased?

The gallery serves as a platform to display the artist's work and makes efforts in contacting collectors and art buyers interested in contemporary art. However, it is not responsible for selling and shipping the artwork. When a buyer expresses interest, all transaction details are forwarded to the artist. The financial transactions are then handled directly between the gallery and the customer. The gallery takes a 38%* commission from the sale, and the remaining proceeds go to the artist..

To keep in mind

The responsibility of shipping the original artwork that a customer is potentially interested in buying lies with the artist. The artist sends the original artwork to the gallery. After careful examination, the gallery issues a Certificate of Authenticity and sends the artwork in a safe package to the purchaser.

* Galleries typically retain between 30% and 60% of the selling price.
